ANNUAL ANNOUNCEMENT,

1868-69.

The Faculty of the Missouri Medical College, in again issuing their Annual Catalogue and Announcement, are happy in being able to present to their Alumni and the Profession generally evidence of their present prosperous condition and future prospects. Having been reorganized after a temporary suspension during the war, with a complete corps of professors, the success which has thus far attended their efforts has been both gratifying and encouraging, and is such as to justify their most sanguine expectations as to the future of the College. The Faculty have provided themselves with all the modern appliances for illustrating their respective courses, and they are determined that no effort on their part shall be wanting to give to the students in attendance on their lectures a full and complete course of instruction in all the branches of medical science usually taught in similar institutions in this country, that they may be thoroughly grounded in the elements of their profession, and equal to all the demands of the present advanced state of medical science.

Situated, as St. Louis is, in the center of the great Valley of the Mississippi, and being equally accessible by river and rail to all parts of the South and West, there is no reason why it should not speedily become the medical, as it already is the commercial, metropolis of this vast and fertile region. It is the object of the Faculty to bend all their energies to the attainment of this desirable end, and in doing this they confidently appeal to Southern and Western students to sustain them in their efforts by giving a cordial and united support to their own domestic institutions—not merely because they are “home institutions,” but upon the broad ground of equal merit, believing, as they do, that there no longer exists a necessity for their going abroad in order to acquire a sound, thorough, practical medical education.

The ensuing course of Lectures will commence on Monday, the twelfth day of October next, and continue for five months. Preliminary lectures will be delivered from October 1st to the commencement of the regular session, to which all students are invited. The Faculty earnestly desire to have a full attendance of the class at the commencement of the regular term in October, and students will do well to make their arrangements accordingly.

The Dissecting Rooms will be open and attended by the Demonstrator of Anatomy from the commencement of the term; and as anatomical material is both cheap and abundant in St. Louis, every facility will be afforded the students to acquire a thorough knowledge of practical Anatomy.

With a population of two hundred and twenty-five thousand, St. Louis affords large and well-regulated Hospitals, filled with every variety of disease, to which students are admitted free of charge, and as deserved prominence is given to Clinical instruction, both in Medicine and Surgery, these institutions furnish an inviting field for the student to familiarize himself with the various phases of disease by observing and studying it at the bedside.

The following requisites must invariably be complied with before a candidate is recommended to the Board of Trustees for the Degree of Doctor of Medicine:

The candidate shall be twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, and shall have been engaged in the study of medicine for at least three years, including the courses of lectures.

He shall have attended two full courses of lectures in this Institution, one of which may be dispensed with, upon evidence of having attended a full course of lectures at some other respectable medical school in good standing, or of having been engaged in respectable practice of medicine, under the guidance of a regular physician, for four years.

He shall have attended the Dissecting-room in this school and the Hospital Clinics for at least one session.

He shall write an acceptable Thesis on some subject connected with Medicine.

He shall notify the Dean, in writing, of his intention to become a candidate, at least one month before the close of the session, and shall, at the same time, deliver to him his Thesis, together with the graduation fee, which, in case of withdrawal or rejection, shall be returned. He shall, also, furnish to the Dean, at the same time, satisfactory evidence of having complied with all preliminary requisites, and of having purchased the tickets of each Professor for every course of lectures attended in this Institution, and also the ticket of the Demonstrator of Anatomy for at least one course.

He shall pass a satisfactory examination by the Faculty.

 FEES—PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

For the Full Course of Lectures,	-	-	-	-	-	$105 00
Single Tickets, each	-	-	-	-	-	15 00
Matriculation Ticket,	-	-	-	-	-	5 00
Demonstrator's Ticket,	-	-	-	-	-	10 00
Graduation Fee,	-	-	-	-	-	20 00
Hospital Ticket, gratis.

Vistors may be admitted to the lectures of any Professor, on being introduced by a member of the Faculty or a matriculated student, for one week, without exhibiting tickets at the door.

Physicians residing in or passing through the city are cordially invited to attend the lectures and clinics of the college.

Graduates of other regular schools are admitted to the course of lectures on paying the matriculation fee only.

Students may attend the lectures of one or more Professors on paying the matriculation fee and purchasing single tickets at $15 each, but such attendance will not be counted to them as a full course.

Special private instruction in any of the principal and collateral branches of medical science may be obtained readily for a moderate compensation.

Boarding in respectable private families, at convenient distance from the college, can be obtained without difficulty, and on as reasonable terms as in any other large city.

Any further information will be promptly furnished by the Dean, to whom all business communications should be addressed. Students, on arriving in the city, will please call on the Dean at the college, corner Eighth and Gratiot streets, or at his office, No. 418 Locust street, between Fourth and Fifth.

DRAKE McDOWELL, M. D., Dean.
